Tip: hover your cursor over any button in the app for a short explanation of what it does.

Why anonymize before using AI?

If you attach or paste a document into an AI chat, the details and metadata are stored by the AI provider. CamoText swaps sensitive details for coded tags, offline; the AI understands the document without seeing confidential terms.

You stay in control: review what was caught and adjust accordingly before AI use.

WHAT THE AI SEES

* TRY THESE *

1 Anonymize a draft

Drag and drop a document file into Input Text → Anonymize → Review the Anonymization Key and Output Text → Copy → Paste into your AI chat

Always read the output before sharing it: automated detection is strong, but you know what's sensitive in your document. See #4 below.

2 Ensure key terms are masked RECOMMENDED

Before clicking Anonymize, open Settings → Priority Terms and add terms that must always be hidden and for which you'd like a custom label like CLIENT, to provide more context for AI use.

Save your Settings to reuse them; turn on auto-load to apply automatically each time you open the app.

3 Restore false positives

Something masked that doesn't need to be, like a state name? In the Key, check its box and click Revert Selections. To restore several within a category (e.g., all dates), use Review by Category.

4 Review and adjust output HUMAN IN THE LOOP

Highlight text of any length in the output and click Anonymize Highlight. It's masked everywhere it appears, and you can customize the label. For long documents, Open New Window adds search.

5 Keep Word & Excel formatting

Anonymize a .docx or .xlsx, then Save As the same file type. Your input file's formatting will be preserved, with metadata and hidden data removed.

6 Restore the originals

Paste the AI's output containing CamoText tags into Reinsert Terms below the output (same session), or Save Key now and use De-Anonymize later to restore a file with the saved key.

✓ Fully offline

CamoText works locally on your computer without internet. When the app is closed, nothing remains unless saved by the user.

✓ Guard the Key

The Key maps every tag to the real value. Don't share it or paste it into an AI chat.

✓ Cleanest results

Word and text files detect best. Scanned PDFs (images) are not readable. Copying the text output is fastest for AI analysis.
